

N. Y. FEARS RADICAL BOMB PLOT

STATE CROPS SHOW PRODUCTION GAIN, BUT LESS RETURN

Big Slump in Cotton Causes 200,000 Bales to Be Left in the Fields.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 14.—The slump in the price of cotton, an Oklahoma crop that contributes two-fifths of the moneys toward the financial status of all state crops, resulted in the state dropping from its rank of seventh place in the union in 1919, to sixteenth in value of all crops in 1920, according to statistics contained in the federal crop reporter, made public here through the bureau of crop estimates and the state department of agriculture.

The total combined value of crops in Oklahoma in 1919 was given at $570,882,000, compared with $294,715,000 in 1920. These figures were arrived at despite the fact that approximately 250,000 more bales of cotton were raised in the state during 1920, but the drop in the market, causing a loss estimated at $110,000,000 in cotton alone, materially cut down the financial standing of the state. It was said by bureau officials that probably 175,000,000 or 200,000 bales of cotton would not be picked, but left standing in the field.

A loss of $48,000,000 in the wheat crop over the 1919 crop, is shown in the report. This can be accounted for, however, because it is explained. The production of wheat in the state for 1920 was listed at 46,749,000 bushels, compared with 54,949,000 in 1919. All other principal crops showed material increases in production, but at the same time failed to register such an increase in the financial column. Lowering prices in all principal products was attributed for the falling off in values. Corn showed the heaviest gain in number of bushels with an increase of 20,000,000 over 1919. The figures of 1920 are 89,320 and 1919, 69,000,000.

Pages of History Are Turned Back in Play By Normal Students

A large crowd enjoyed the play, "Continental Congress," which was presented last evening at the Normal auditorium by the members of the history department of the school.

From the time the curtain arose on the deliberations of the First Continental Congress till the last curtain was lowered on the closing scenes of the Second Continental Congress, the play held the attention of the audience, drawing many cheers.

Most of the leading characters of the colonial period were represented. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams, Richard Henry Lee, Patrick Henry, John Hancock and a score of others were there, and told again the story of their devotion to the cause of liberty.

The parts were well acted, and the costumes worn were appropriate to the year 1774. The play served to throw many interesting lights on the early stages of American history. In the opening scene Samuel Adams laid the intolerable grievances of the state of Massachusetts and the city of Boston before the First Continental Congress, and received from the delegates of the other colonies, after a stormy debate, the pledge of support to the bitter end against the tyrannous king of England.

The story session of the Second Continental Congress was reproduced. It was at this congress that the Declaration of Independence was drafted, and the entertainment closed amid great cheering as the last of the delegates eloquently pledged their unqualified support of the declaration.

It is reported that the play was a success financially, considerably over $100 being realized from the sale of tickets.

Bull Fighting Still Favorite With Mexicans

The Notables Kick Up Dust Over Duels, But They Seldom Fight.

(By the Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 29.—Duelling, as practiced in Mexico, is the most harmless of outdoor sports. Although scarcely a week passes but some person who pride has been hurt challenges the offender to "pistols at 20 paces in the Bosque of Chapultepec," to reach beyond the stage of talk and none even ventures close to reality.

A deputy from one Mexican state rises in the chamber and bitterly assails a member from another state for his attitude on certain public measures. The other replies with equal vituperation. Before the day is done the chances are a challenge will be carried to one or the other by two seconds who later describe their efforts in a verbose report to all the newspapers.

Once in a while the challenge will be accepted and then there is a scramble on all sides to see to it that the "government intervenes" at the proper moment. Whether there is official "intervention" is conjecture but the announcement is always the same—that "high authorities frowned upon the contemplated struggle to death and forbade it." Pride is always satisfied by such announcement and the incident is forgotten.

WHISKEY THEFTS RUN TO $3,000,000

Taken From Government Warehouses at Chicago; Officers Blamed.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Agents of liquor seized by dry enforcement operatives in the past year and held at a government warehouse here declare that more than three million dollars worth of whiskey is missing.

F. D. Richardson, prohibition commissioner, announced today. The whiskey evidently was stolen several months ago, before he took office, Richardson said. He added that he hoped to have a number of prohibition officers indicted and prosecuted as a result of the investigation.

Mr. Richardson says he has learned that at one time eight hundred barrels of whiskey were removed from the warehouse in daylight and that the day before he assumed office thirteen truck loads were hauled out. On that night he asserts there was a driving rain and prohibition agents supposed to be on guard were inside the house playing cards. The missing whiskey totals more than four hundred thousand gallons.

All Paths in Ada to Lead to Glenwood Park This Spring

Folks in Ada who love nature and the great outdoors have much to look forward to this spring when picnic time comes rolling around again. All paths will lead to Glenwood park, at the western terminus of Main street.

The city of Ada is spending nearly $10,000 to make the park one of the most attractive places in this section of the state. A swimming pool, modernly equipped, is being built; and a children's playgrounds outfit is to be installed before the balmy months come. Benches will be placed under the shade trees, and a landscape artist will put in a touch here and there to make the spot more charming.

The city commissioners, in voting the appropriation for the park, seek to help fill a long felt need here for such a place of recreation and relaxation.

City officials in many of the larger centers feel that much of the unrest among the people can be stopped by the development of parks. Crowded conditions in the cities are blamed for the unrest and it is pointed out that parks "are social safety valves on the seething and strained boilers of humanity."

The road back to nature, many contend, is the safe one, and no enterprise can do more for the good of all the people than such a beautiful spot as Glenwood park promises to be.

CROWD CHEERS BALLOONISTS ON ARRIVAL HOME

Trouble Between Farrell and Hinton Apparently Forgotten.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Lieutenant Kloor, Farrell and Hinton, naval balloonists, arrived at the Pennsylvania railway station this morning, exactly a month after they landed near Moose Factory, Ontario, after a day's balloon flight from the Rockaway naval air station.

Lieutenant Farrell was the first to leave the train, accompanied by Mrs. Farrell, who had left New York to meet her husband. A crowd of relatives, naval officers and a group of business men from Rockaway greeted the party. The officers were taken to a hotel where they were to be guests of honor at a luncheon given by Rockaway residents.

The balloonists were attired in navy caps and blue suits and declared they were "none the worse" for their perilous adventure in the north woods, where they were lost four days.

On their way to the hotel through an underground passage from the station, the crowd cheered for Farrell, who was the center of interest, then a cheer went up for Hinton.

Farrell and Hinton, who engaged in a personal encounter upon their arrival at Mattice, walked close together and smiled at each other, while photographers cracked their machines.

Lieutenant Hinton also was accompanied by his wife and when he left the train it became known that Mrs. Farrell and Mrs. Hinton had left the city together to greet their husbands upon their arrival.

Lieutenant Farrell told newspaper men that there was "nothing heroic" in what the balloonists had done. He said he did not consider that they had accomplished anything like a stupendous feat.

ALFALFA MILL READY TO START

Only Waiting for Industrial Track To Be Extended To the Plant.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ada Alfalfa Milling company was held Tuesday afternoon at their newly completed building north of the city. Twenty of the thirty-five stockholders, representing about two-thirds of the issued stock, were present, and took part in the voting which resulted in the election of seven directors to have charge of the business affairs of the company during the year 1921.

The company was incorporated for $75,000 last summer, and a temporary board of directors was elected to serve until the annual meeting which was just held. Five of the old directors were re-elected, and two new directors were elected to serve with them. The following is a list of the present board: R. W. Allen, president; C. W. Zorn, vice president; A. D. Allen, secretary; Treasurer: Joe Starford, Charlie Rivers, Will Haynes and J. H. Bullock. Reeves and Bullock were elected to fill vacancies made by W. I. Laughlin and G. E. Erwin, who served on the board during the past six months.

During the past six months a concrete building has been erected just north of the glass factory, and equipped with the latest machinery for the manufacture of the products which will be made and sold by the concern. The cost of the building and the machinery was slightly over $30,000. Practically all of the machinery has been set up, and the plant will be ready to start by the time a track can be extended to the plant, connecting it with the three railroads of the city. This industry track has been built as far as the glass factory, which is located 400 feet south of the mill, and the roads are said to be working on joint plans to extend it to the new industry as soon as possible.

A. D. Allen will have charge of the mill. He has had several years experience in the business, and is competent to conduct the plant successfully. The chief product will be alfalfa mixed feeds, but the plant has been equipped to handle all kinds of corn and other feeds. The capacity of the mill will be about five carloads a day, and fifteen men will be worked each day during the first year.

All of the home products available will be used in manufacturing the articles to be sold, but it is thought that much of the alfalfa and other feed stuffs will have to be shipped in.

Women Beaten and Driven From Homes

O'Callaghan Tells the Committee of Atrocities by British Soldiers.

(By the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Catholic churches, convents, parochial schools and priests themselves are objects of outrages by British crown forces in Ireland, Donald O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, declared today in continuing his statements before the commission of the Committee of One Hundred investigating conditions in Ireland.

Father Griffin of Galway, he declared, had been killed "undoubtedly, because he was known to have received an invitation from the American commission investigating Irish conditions to come here to give testimony."

Father MacSwiney of Cork, he said, was taken from a train car on December 18 and ordered to write "to hell with the Pope." Refusing, the lord mayor added, the priest was practically stripped of his clothing and then beaten.

The lord mayor said there was constant mistreatment of women, despite the actual belief that they were immune from mistreatment by British forces. He gave names and dates of some two dozen instances of killing of women, and also told of them being driven from their homes in night clothing without shoes. In one case, he said, a woman was held kneeling in a ditch of water in an effort to extract information from her.

Previous to the big fire in Cork, numerous efforts were made to burn the city hall and other buildings, the lord mayor said, especially those thought to have been used by Sinn Fein clubs.

Warnings worded very much like the notices sent out by the Germans preceding the destruction of Louvain, he said, were received by citizens before the burning. Copies of the notices presented to the commission read:

"It is extremely dangerous to be living on your premises at the present."

ELECTION FRAUDS ARE REVEALED IN NEW YORK

(By the Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Investigation of alleged election frauds in this city last November has revealed a scandal rivaling that of the primary campaign of 1917. It was said today when it became known that the total number of persons indicted by the August grand jury was nearing 30.

Mail Bag With $50,000 Disappears From Train

(By the Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Postal inspectors today are investigating the mysterious disappearance of a registered mail pouch, said to have contained $50,000 in cash, jewelry and money orders. They say it was checked when it was placed on a Chicago and North-western train at Milwaukee and checked off when it arrived in Chicago yesterday, but after that it disappeared.

Trace of the bag is expected to be obtained through a checking process, which has already disclosed that one money order for $1,650 known to have been in the pouch, was cashed at the Chicago post office yesterday before the loss was discovered.

The inspectors expressed belief that someone in the post office here knew the contents of the bag.

Found By Roadside Young Farmer Victim of Strange Poisoning

Lying by the roadside unconscious, Harmon Blake, son of John Blake, a farmer living about seven miles from Ada, was found by a party of hunters shortly after 12 o'clock today and brought to town. A doctor was hastily summoned, and found that the young man had been poisoned.

"They made me drink it," he said when his eyes opened for a moment, then he lapsed back into stupor.

Those who know the young man declare that he had never been known to touch liquor. The symptoms indicate that he drank wood alcohol.

His father was notified, and came to town at once. Harmon was on his way to town with a lot of plow shares when he fell a victim to the poisoning.

Marion mails flooded with advice would indicate that there are several million others who don't believe in one-man government.

MOVE QUICKLY TO NIP RED SCHEME OF DESTRUCTION

Public Buildings, Churches and Big Plants Guarded By Extra Police.

(By the Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Public buildings, churches, public utilities plants and homes of wealthy citizens throughout the city were under heavy guard today by order of the police as a precautionary measure against possible radical demonstrations.

Police officers were extremely reticent regarding the order, which was given verbally last night to the entire force, but they intimated that it was prompted by federal authority.

Supporting the belief that the order was the result of federal stimulus was the fact that Chief William J. Flynn of the department of justice intelligence service made the rounds last night, giving instructions to the police and detectives stationed at various points.

Plainclothes detectives and uniformed patrolmen working in relays took up their all night sentinel duties last night and those on duty had not left their posts early today.

Investigation of the warnings is being made, it was added, but as yet government agents have been unable to find any evidence that the demonstrations are to take place.

DRUNKEN HOG AND DOG FIGHT WOBBLING GOATS

OMAHA—A drunken hog, aided by an intoxicated dog, were engaged in a glory battle with three inebriated goats when deputy sheriffs descended on the farm of George Fred, alleged moonshiner, near here yesterday.

The goats, which had imbibed more freely than the other animals, got decidedly the worst of the argument, but not before they had inflicted severe punishment on the enemy.

Officers found six stills in full operation and confiscated 600 gallons of corn whisky besides large quantities of mash. The animals had become drunk from eating the mash.

Pontotoc County

Poultry Show a Grand Success

The second day of the best annual poultry show ever held in Pontotoc county is in progress. Persons who claim to be posted on the subject claim that the Pontotoc county show this year is one of the best county shows that have been seen in the state.

Over 200 fowls are on display, including fine specimens of practically all of the popular breeds. There are also several pedigreed and registered rabbits on display in the show room.

In most of the fowls are owned by Pontotoc county breeders. Hughes county being the only other county represented. It is said that many other breeders of the county would have been represented at the show had not the bad weather interfered.

George Winans of Oklahoma acted as judge of the fowls and completed the general judging at noon Friday. Friday afternoon he will do the special judging and award the special prizes. The champion pullet of the show will be declared winner of sweepstakes, and the owner will be presented with the silver loving cup, which was presented to the association by A. D. Coon five years ago. During the past five years this cup has been in the possession of as many different persons. When it is won by the same party two times in succession it will become the permanent property of the winner. Late Douge won the cup last year.

Saturday, the final day of the show, will be one of the most interesting. Commencing at 10 a. m., the boys and girls judging contest will be held. This contest is open to all the young folks of the county, and $25 is to be given away to the successful judges. This department will be held under the direction of County Agent Hill and County Demonstrator Mrs. Duvall.

Almost every one who visits the show makes a record of their guesses on the weight of a buff orpington cockerel and four pullets which are kept in a pen at the front of the room. The one who guesses nearest to the combined weight of the five birds will receive a prize of $5.

The prizes will be announced tomorrow.

OPTIMISM SHOWN IN COTTON MARKET

Increasing Demand and Mill Activities Sent Prices Upward.

NEWS OFFICE, DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 8.—Spot markets, middling closing: Dallas, steady, 30 points higher at 13.95c; Galveston, steady, 50 points higher at 14.25c; New Orleans, holiday; New York, steady, 25 points higher at 17.10c; Savannah, steady, unchanged at 15.15c; Charleston, nominal, unchanged at 15.12c; Norfolk, steady at 15.25c; Mobile, nominal, 25 points higher at 13.50c; Memphis, steady, unchanged at 14c; Liverpool, holiday.

Future markets, closing prices: Liverpool, holiday; New York, very steady, 27 to 29 points higher; New Orleans, holiday.

The cotton market reflected the increasing optimistic sentiment regarding the trade prospects and increasing demand for the raw material, especially on low grades, coupled with more active cloth markets and with the closing prices showing a net gain of 27 to 39 points for future delivery contracts.

New Orleans market was closed on account of election there, while Liverpool had its usual Saturday holiday. The New York market opened steady, 4 to 12 points net higher, and following a slight recession in values, owing to hedge selling, advanced materially under general trade buying. There was considerable covering by shorts in advance of the government spinning report on Monday, under which prices sold 41 to 12 points net the previous close on the active months, January touching 16.65c, March 15.65c and May 15.63c, or some 500 points over the recent low levels.

The strength of the stock market and firmer and more active cloth markets with better spot and mill news increased the outside demand, while the optimistic statement of President-elect Harding was viewed as a leading factor. The market on cotton, stocks and grain was steady, while other commodity markets were firm. During the last half hour the usual week-end liquidation was encountered on the barge, but offerings were well absorbed at a slight reaction and on the close the market was very steady at a moderate gain. The principal southern spot markets were generally steady, 25 to 50 points higher, with fairly good sales reported.

The cotton shipboard awaiting clearance at the close of the week was placed at 174,000 bales, against 304,000 at the same time last year. New York says that signs of easier money foreshadowed reduction of the federal reserve discount rates. Cable advices report the president of the Manchester chamber of commerce as being extremely optimistic on trade prospects. Press reports regarding the Mexican financial crisis are termed more optimistic. Nineteen clothing factories in Rochester are reported to have resumed operations. The Fall River curtailment for the week is placed at 200 pieces, less than for the last few weeks, while the sale of print cloths is estimated at 110,000 pieces.

Raising Beef Cattle.

The future of raising beef cattle is not as bright as it should be. But it is believed that there will be better prices for beef cattle and that farmers who have been raising cotton exclusively will find that they may turn a portion of their farms to pasture, grow grain and hay on other portions and produce baby beef at profitable prices. It is believed that should these who attempt this make less than what seems desirable on the cattle, that the increase in fertility from running the land in grass and grazing cattle on it and less cost of labor for growing all or mostly cotton will make enough margin of profit to make beef cattle raising profitable.

The obstacle that has been in the way of raising beef cattle on small farms is that many farmers have not believed that land at present prices and present state of fertility would pay to grow grass and other grazing crops. They have assumed that cheap land, rough land or worthless land only is suitable for grazing. To use good land and land that costs today considerable money, is out of their estimate.

Regardless of low prices of cotton and the difficulties some find in reducing their acreage, the American people will want good beef. The large ranches will hardly be able to produce enough nor will our South American neighbors be able to drive out the man who studies his business and applies knowledge to his farming and his operations in animal husbandry.

There are a few essentials for beef cattle: Plenty of feed of the right kind; pasture and good animals. Some farmers are able to buy the cattle and use their own feed and break even or make a small profit. But why can't the animals be raised, the feed produced and full benefits derived from diversified crops and rotation with the aid of the animals for increased yields? There is an opportunity to say the least of it; at least for those who are situated so they may begin.

"Be Good Sports," Appeals Dr. Crafts

"Be a good sport," appeals Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, of Washington, D. C., to those who oppose prohibition. "You have been defeated in a fair and square contest. Accept the results like a true sportsman."

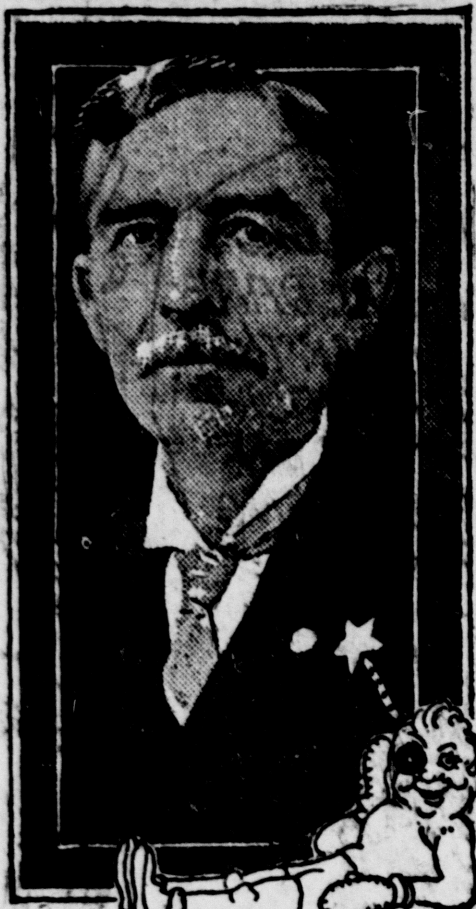

"The test of the real sportsman is the way in which he accepts defeat," says Dr. Crafts. "That popular sportsman, Sir Thomas Lipton, said when he came to this country in another gallant effort to lift America's cup, 'If I win, I shall be glad. If I am defeated, I'll take my licking with a smile.' Sir Thomas is the most famous sportsman in the world, not because he has won victories, but because he accepts defeat after defeat so graciously—never with a grouse."

"The true sportsman accepts defeat in recreation, in business and in politics, in golf and baseball and in the great game of democracy whether it be the election of a president or in the settlement of the prohibition issue. The greatest Olympic in the world is the election of an American president. Even when Hayes was elected by one vote by the electoral college and doubt was expressed about the validity of the election, the defeated party accepted the result."

"And when prohibition is decreed by 45 states with a population of one hundred million, with only three states dissenting, whose population is but five million, any man or woman who does not accept the result wholeheartedly is neither a good sportsman nor a good citizen."

In the preliminary local and state contests for a hundred years the dyes were often defeated but they always accepted their defeat like good sportsmen."

Dr. Crafts delights to tell of the liquor dealer he discovered who was a real sportsman. This man's first name was August and he was always known by that name. When the National War Prohibition act was passed closing saloons July 1, 1919, this man put a sign in his front window which read: "The first of July will be the last of August."

Dr. Crafts, now in his seventy-first year, has devoted his life to the cause of making America a better place in which to live. He is probably one of the most misunderstood, most misrepresented and most abused men in the United States, but plods on cheerily. As he says:

"The man who would reform must have a saving sense of humor. He must not take himself too seriously." Dr. Crafts's bureau engages in a three-fold work: "civic education, legislation and law-enforcement." It is supported by voluntary contributions of more than 15,000 citizens.

KEEP ON SMILING

Yes, Where?

A very cultivated English woman who writes excellent verse and who, from her sense of beauty, still clings fondly to her Swinburne and Wordsworth—to say nothing of our Whitman—was taken to a pretty society reception in New York the other evening. Not liking verse libre she is not familiar with the names of its exponents, and during the evening the name of Amy Lowell came up for discussion.

"Amy Lowell! Amy Lowell! Who is Amy Lowell?" she asked. The young man in horn spectacles gazed at her scornfully and replied, "Amy Lowell is our leading poet."

"Where, may I ask, is she leading you?" said the English lady. —New York Sun.

GET THE LISTENING HABIT

It is recounted that on occasion a certain wise man was asked the first rule of getting along in the world of people. The answer came back "be a good listener."

In these days of modern newspapers reading corresponds to listening. In the news columns are the printed views and opinions of the foremost men and women of our day—leaders in thought and action. To be well informed, you read what they have to say, just as you would listen if they were speaking to you.

In the advertising columns, you have the opportunity to "listen" to messages that are even closer and more vital to your everyday life. Your own townspeople, as well as men and women from all over the world are telling you their stories. For your benefit.

There's an endless array of articles from which you can choose. The choice is simple if you're a good listener—the more you listen the more you know and the better able to buy.

A GOOD TONIC.

Roger Babson, in his address at the big gathering in the Bellevue-Stratford recently, said two Philadelphians had given to the country what he considered was fourth in importance in his list of the 10 great stabilizing forces of America. The men were Cyrus H. K. Curtis and George Horace Lorimer. The stabilizing force he put fourth was that which we term national advertising. It was these men, he said, who were the argonauts in the field and the builders of publications by which it is possible for manufacturer or merchant, through one medium, to address the buyer of his goods in every hamlet or village, town or city throughout the whole vast expanse of the United States, and even beyond. The importance, the worth of this in broadening markets and promoting trade and reducing costs of distribution was beyond estimation.

Mr. Babson was happy in some of his illustrations. When he spoke of deflation he drew forth a handkerchief. Suppose, he said, he dipped that handkerchief in a bowl of water and then hung it on a line to dry, how long would it take for nature, through atmospheric action, to absorb all the moisture from it? He answered his own question by saying from four to eight hours.

Suppose, he continued, he dipped the handkerchief in the bowl of water, then put it through a wringer, and, after that, hung it on a line to dry, how long would it take to get all the water out? One or two hours, he answered. Then he asked which was better, to apply the wringer, as had been done to get the water out of business, do the job in a year or so and then have vast improvement, or let the process of deflation drag out over four years or eight years, with poor business throughout that time.

As Mr. Babson mentioned the very large part Mr. Curtis has played in business development in America, it may be of value to bring out here and now one of the methods by which the publisher attained success. Mr. Curtis suggested to the present writer:

"Run as Fast as You Can to Stay Where You Are," as a title for an editorial at this time.

"All my business life," he said, "I have spent more money for advertising whenever a business slump came along than in normal times, and if I didn't get ahead in the race I kept from slipping back and was in a position to shoot ahead of my competitors the moment conditions changed."

Logical? Of course it is. Strong men breast the current. Weak ones are carried down stream by it. If you have goods to sell tell the people. They'll buy if the goods are right and the price is right. "Run as fast as you can to stay where you are," will pay big even if it doesn't pay immediate dividends.

It pays to advertise.

KANSAS HISTORY IN "FREE SOIL."

Miss Margaret Lynn of Lawrence, Kan., in her new novel, "Free Soil" (McMillan company), goes back to the early days of struggle when the state was known as "Bleeding Kansas." The author gives an extensive description of the way in which the state was settled, showing that the territory was not homesteaded, as were most other states, by pioneers in search of adventure, but by people with definite purpose either for or against slavery.

The writer visualizes the spirit of those days through a New England family which moved to Lawrence with an idea of helping to build the right kind of home life and citizenship into the disputed beliefs of the state.

The journey of this family across the country, by boat from St. Louis to Westport Landing, the present Kansas City, and to the more or less substantial homes in the territory to which they journeyed, carries the reader back to a time which many persons take for granted, but few comprehend. The actual happenings of the times and the way in which the central figures in the story meet various crisis make a plot of the story.

MOVIES IN THE CLASSROOM.

There is scarcely a grammar or high school subject that cannot be filmed in part, if not in whole. Even algebraic formula and equations are capable of pictorial presentation which will give the pupil a clearer concept of their significance.

In the September bulletin of the American Meteorological society Dr. Mardsden Manson of San Francisco announces a series of films that he is preparing for teaching all branches of geography and related sciences. He uses revolving models of the earth.

"In producing the films for this system," says Dr. Manson, "the models are mounted on a balanced axis and are rotated so as to give diurnal and seasonal exposures to a beam of light, which illuminates them as the earth is in space. When in either or both of these motions, they are photographed with a motion picture machine. Data of any kind are permanently or temporarily depicted upon the model. The system is thus adaptable to a very wide range of subjects and visualizes the data of each in an impressive form.

"The revolving, or at will, stationary, image of the globe is projected upon a scale of one-five millionths (or 2.6 meters—8 feet 6 inches in diameter).

"The data for each film are compiled from standard texts, treatises and authorities, which are given in each case. The films can be used with standard motion picture cameras.

"These films will be sold at reasonable rates, which will be announced as soon as the number required can be approximated.

"The system will be kept up with the advance of knowledge in the various fields and with new ones which may be developed."

Only those who did their shopping early were able to avoid the later price reductions.

THE BANTAM KID TO THE RESCUE!

Cotton Yield for 1919
Greater Than for 1920

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11.—Twenty-four counties in the cotton growing areas of Oklahoma had ginned more bales of cotton on December 13, last, than during the entire 1919-20 season. It is shown in a report of the federal bureau of crop estimates, issued here today. The total ginned was 66 percent of the estimated 1,300,000 bales, while on the same date in 1919 68 percent had been ginned.

Despite unfavorable cotton conditions and reverses encountered during the past season, the increased number of bales ginned runs from one to six thousand bales over the number ginned last year, the tables increase in number of bales ginned would be considerably strengthened.

Greer, Harmon, Jefferson and Love counties, important cotton growing sections, were the hardest hit of any in the state so far as the cotton crop is concerned, the report shows. Adair, Atoka, Cherokee, Cleveland, Coal, Custer, Grady, Haskell, Hughes, Latimer, LeFlore, McClain, McIntosh, Mayes, Muskogee, Okfuskee, Okmulgee, Osage, Pittsburg, Pontotoc, Pottawatomie, Pushmataha, Seminole and Sequoyah counties ginned more bales of cotton prior to December 13, than during the 1919-20 season.

Wagoner, Cotton, Creek and Bryan counties nearly equalled the ginning record of last year's yield.

The 24 counties and their 1920-1919 records follows:

	1919	1920
Adair	706	1,440
Atoka	10,926	12,369
Cherokee	4,085	7,323
Cleveland	13,790	14,205
Coal	9,997	11,219
Custer	657	761
Grady	16,667	19,100
Haskell	12,572	19,104
Hughes	31,138	39,390

SLAB FROM PANAMA
TO MARK GRAVE OF
TEDDY ROOSEVELT

(By the Associated Press)

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Jan. 14.—A slab of limestone taken from Culebra cut on the Panama Canal has been placed beside the grave of Theodore Roosevelt, who brought about the building of that waterway. The stone, cut from a spot 60 feet above where President Roosevelt made an address in 1906, was presented by "the Canal zone children."

It was placed beside the grave of the former president by Henry J. Grieser, a swimming director at Balboa, and the ceremonies were attended by the Roosevelt family and school children of Oyster Bay.

WOMAN HOLDS ROBBER
THOUGH HE CUTS HER

SAPULPA—Holding a man whom she said was robbing her home, until her calls for aid were answered by neighbors, Mrs. George W. Dix, wife of a Sapulpa physician, was severely cut about the face and neck last night by the alleged robber, who gave his name to the authorities as "Cotton" Van Dolan. Van Dolan was taken to the county jail by neighbors of Mrs. Dix, and released after a preliminary hearing today, under $2,000 bond. An immediate trial was asked by the Sapulpa chamber of commerce, meeting today after a resolution to that effect was adopted.

Mrs. Dix said she was awakened by a noise and discovered a man "stuffing the family jewelry and money into a sack. She then tackled him, she explained, and was dragged into the street, after being cut and struck several times.

PINK TIGHTS TOO
TAME, SOMETHING
'WILDER' WANTED

CHICAGO—Pink tights that have adorned the graceful figures of girl trapeze performers and bareback riders, since Barnum discovered "one born every minute," have been ruled off the sawdust ring.

S. P. Norwood, Chicago representative of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey, confided today that the "greatest show on earth" had tabooed the silk habitments.

"Too raw?" "Too tame," he answered. "Don't you know we're up against it to find something to shock the circus ticket buying public these days?"

"The time has passed when staid men would come for miles to see a girl in pink tights and call it diversion. The dear sisters have stolen our stuff so we must find something new. The public has absorbed all the shocks we can give it."

"It is impossible to interest a public that has been grazing on the styles of women by revealing an attractive human form. Diaphanous costumes have taken the kick out of the circus stuff."

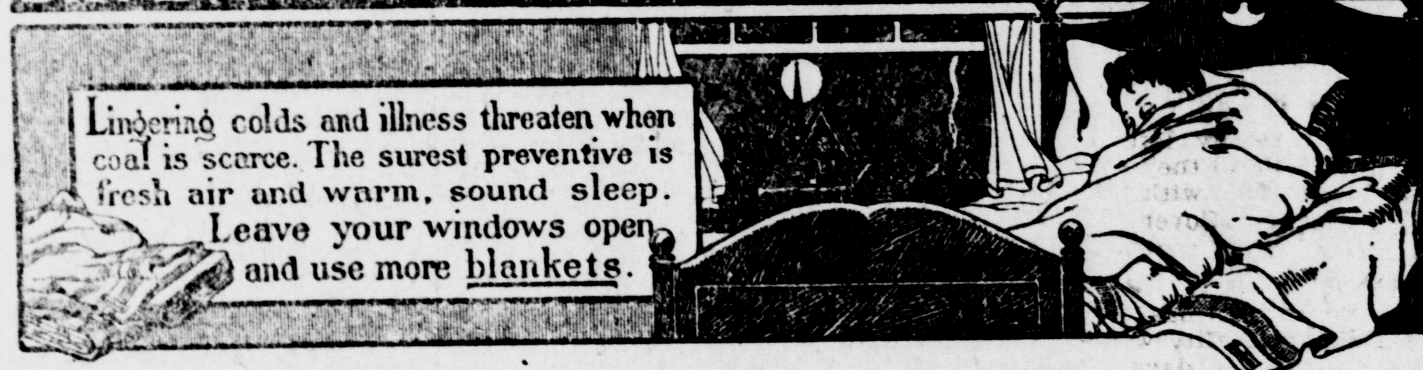

"We have given up trying to get a rise out of men who are accustomed to seeing girls promenade down the boulevard with their shocking stockings rolled at the knees, by showing them girls in tights."

Norwood refused to divulge what kind of lack of costume will supplant the tights.

"I'm now studying the laws of the various states to see just how far we may go," he said.

IN SOCIETY

The Valley of Unrest.
Once it smiled a silent dell
Where the people did not dwell;
They had gone unto the wars,
Trusting to the mild-eyed stars,
Nightly, from their azure towers,
To keep watch above the flowers,
In the midst of which all day
The red sunlight lazily lay.
Now each visitor shall confess
The sad valley's restlessness.
Nothing there is motionless—
Nothing save the airs that brood
Over the magic solitude.
Ah, by no wind are stirred those trees
That palpitate like the chill of seas
Around the misty Hebrides!
Ah, by no winds those clouds are driven
That rustles through the quiet
Heaven
Uneasily, from morn till even,
Over the violets there that lie
In myriad types of the human eye—
Over the lilies there that wave
And weep above a nameless grave
They wave:—from out their fragrant tops
Eternal dews come down in drops.
They weep:—from off their delicate stems
Perennial tears descend in gems.

Business College Will Play Normal in Third League Game

The basketball game, which was scheduled to be played in the Normal gym tonight between the Business College team and the Normal A class team, has been postponed until Saturday night. This was done on account of the bad weather.

The Normal teams, both A and B. Classes, have won the opening games of the league and made an excellent showing in both. They have good material, which, with the aid of their able coach is being developed into strong teams.

The Business College has also played several games, winning most of the mby a good score, and have been doing some hard practice during the past few weeks. They are a strong team and will give the Normal cagers a run for their money.

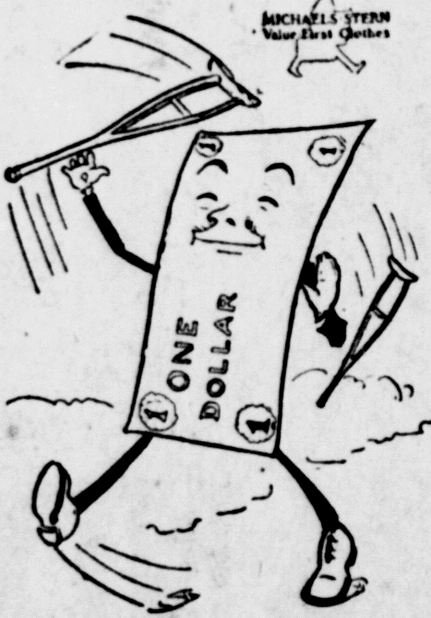

The game tomorrow night is expected to be hard fought from start to finish and will afford much excitement for the spectators. The winner of this game will be well on the way to getting the trophy and both teams will work hard for it.

The good old American Dollar has thrown away its crutches

Last September Mr. Dollar Bill was a mighty sick man—and even in the stores that had a reputation for giving value—he only bought about one-sixtieth of a good Winter Coat.

This minute in this stock where our regular prices always sizzle with extraordinary value—the dollar is performing stunts that 4 months ago we would have thought to be impossible to expect or execute. Here today marked $33.35 and $40 are coats of $50 to $60 value.

And he is indeed a wise man who walks in and says "let me try one on."

THE PASSING OF CAMP FUNSTON

Army City of Few Months Ago Soon a Deserted Village.

(By the Associated Press.)
CAMP FUNSTON, Kan., Dec. 30.—With the fading of the year the final scenes are being enacted in the history of this cantonment. Through this camp 450,000 Americans passed in the process of training for the world war and here Major General Leonard Wood labored while three complete divisions were whipped into shape to face the foes of democracy.
Abandonment and dismantling of the cantonment under recent orders of the war department probably will mean also the turning of Army City, a civilian municipality on its border, into a deserted village.

In the summer of 1918 there were as many as 45,000 men in training here at one time but when the order to vacate was received 3,900 officers and enlisted men of the seventh division were stationed here. These are being sent to Camp Meade, Md., with the exception of the Eighth Field Artillery, which is going to Hawaii and the divisional tank corps which is destined for Camp Pike, Ark.

Officers here said today that the camp will be deserted by all except a few hundred caretakers by January 15 of the new year.
In case the war department order is carried out to the letter, the "junking" of the property, camp officers say, will mean the dismantling and removal of 1,215 buildings of all descriptions, but at an outlay of approximately $15,000,000. Kansas representatives in congress have presented to the war department numerous protests from Kansas organizations against this program. This state is particularly concerned in the "Kansas building," built with $50,000 raised on popular subscription and used as a "community center" by soldiers and visiting relatives.

Camp Funston, occupying 806 of the 40,000 acres in the Fort Riley government reservation, was established early in 1917 and the building plans inaugurated in June of that year. The first troops moved in the following September. It was first a training camp then a demobilization center and of late the station of the seventh division.
General Wood was the first commandant. Under his supervision the 89th division was trained in four months, going overseas in May of 1918. General Wood then was returned to Funston and trained a new division—the tenth—which was ready to go when the armistice was signed. Prior to the assembling of the 89th, Major General J. C. Winn took the 19th division overseas from this camp late in 1917.

Army City represented an outlay in buildings alone of several thousand dollars. Its sole patronage was the Camp Funston soldiers and during the war period it boasted "the largest pool hall, the largest barter shop and the largest laundry in the United States." It also had theaters, stores, cafes, dance halls and churches. With the dwindling of the camp population the town's business has been reduced accordingly.

CHARITY SAVES MANY STARVING CHILDREN

(By the Associated Press.)
VIENNA.—But for the arrival of 900 tons of flour, lent by Germany and Switzerland, Vienna would have been breadless this week. As it was the government was forced to requisition 140 tons of breadstuffs accumulated by the war kitchens during the summer, in order to tide over the crisis.

A considerable consignment of grain secured in Jugo-Slavia and Rumania is tied up at various points down the Danube because of very low water throughout the autumn and early ice. Efforts are being made to tranship by rail but the car and locomotive shortage of all the countries involved, as well as the lack of steam coal delays its arrival.

But for American charity the city authorities concede that Vienna's plight had as it is, would have been infinitely worse this winter. The Burgo-master, Dr. Reumann, in appreciation of the extensive American relief being afforded by various organizations, has asked the Associated Press to convey to the American people the following Christmas message:

"The distress in which the Vienna population is living in consequence of the dreadful war, has highly impressed the American people.

"In Vienna children are starving and perishing from malnutrition, the sick cannot be attended in the hospitals for want of medicines, surgical instruments, dressing stuffs and other remedies of all kinds, and the mortality is rapidly increasing among the weak and old. All these facts have called up a noble-minded readiness to help very touching to the population of Vienna.

"The American people have created a number of relief committees for the purpose of collecting gifts to be distributed among the indigent of Vienna and the famishing children. The American government has taken great interest in this relief work and the American Red Cross has brought love parcels of a high value in Vienna and softened the great misery to a considerable extent.

"We cannot enough admire this splendid assistance that was shown us in such a humane manner; our language has no words fit for interpreting our feeling of heartfelt thankfulness and gratitude.

"As Burgo-master of the city of Vienna, I beg to express herewith my profound and sincere thanks to the generous people of the American state for all the marks of sympathy shown the Vienna population and for all relief and assistance works bestowed upon it.

"I have the honor to send to it the best wishes of the Vienna town council for a merry Christmas, assuring you that the population of Vienna will never forget the humanity and philanthropy of America that has relieved and helped us in this time of need."

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 1.—A permanent injunction was granted in the United States district court here today restraining the secretary of agriculture from enforcing his order restoring the war time commission rate for handling livestock.

STATE MAY GET RICH ON OIL AND NOT KNOW WHY

(By the Associated Press.)
PONCA City, Dec. 31.—As a result of a 3 per cent gross production tax provision of the bill before congress proposing a twenty-five-year extension of the trust period on the oil lands of the Osage Indians, the state of Oklahoma may receive $20,750,000 in the eleven years before the end of the present trust period in 1931, in the opinion of authorities here.

The gross production tax becomes effective immediately after the passage of the bill extending the trust period. Taking the average annual production of oil at the present rate of 60,000 barrels daily with the price at $3.50 a barrel, the producers in the Osage nation would be required to pay to the state $1,890,000 annually. It is estimated. This according to one oil man here, represents a sum in 11 years greater than that required to buy the entire producing lands of the Osages.

It is understood backers of the bill to extend the trust period include both oil men and Osages, concessions being made by both in order to secure its passage. The concession made by the Indians presents an interesting feature in that they agree to pay a 3 per cent gross production tax on their part of the oil for the construction of roads in Osage county. As their part averages 10,000 barrels daily, they would pay into the county roads fund in eleven years $4,158,000 or $378,000 annually.

The oil men have agreed to assume responsibility for damage done to land on which they are drilling, as their part of the effort made to secure passage of the bill. Under the agreement the land owner, the man who has bought the surface rights from the Indian will be reimbursed directly by the oil operators, thus removing a cause of frequent litigation.

The chief opposition to the extension of the trust period comes from white landowners who maintain that the bill will shut them out for another twenty-five years from the royalties which they would have received at the end of the present trust period. They also hold that the drilling operations prevents them from farming in a satisfactory way, and it was to answer this complaint, it is understood, that the provision was put in the bill providing for reimbursement by the oil men to damage to surface land.

GOV. ROBERTSON BUSY ON YEAR'S BUDGET NOW

(By the Associated Press.)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 31.—Holiday week is not preventing Gov. J. B. A. Robertson from continuing his work on his budget and message to the state legislature, which meets in January. All this week, the governor could be found at his desk busy over these matters. He announced the first of the week that his budget would be ready to submit to the legislature on time, about January 10.

The offices of the state board of affairs have been another busy spot in the state house this week. The board is making its purchases for state institutions for the first quarter of the new year.

At the office of the state treasurer, the state income tax blanks are prepared for mailing. Before the middle of the week these were addressed and ready to be mailed to persons who paid a state income tax last year, to banks, notaries public and to others.

The holiday spirit prevails at most of the offices in the capitol and is reflected in decreased forces of clerks in numerous offices. The state corporation commission's offices were closed the first half of the week. In many of the offices which remained open during the week, activities were at a minimum.

FARM INDUSTRY
FUTURE BRIGHT

Dallas County Agricultural Prospect Declared By Agent To Be Good.

DALLAS, Texas.—The prospects for the Dallas county farmer for 1921 are bright, despite the low price of many farm products at the present time, and a good year can be expected if the farming industry is carried on in a business like manner, according to J. A. Moore, acting county agricultural agent. Mr. Moore recently has made a careful investigation of conditions confronting the Dallas county farmer and, as a result, is optimistic over the future.

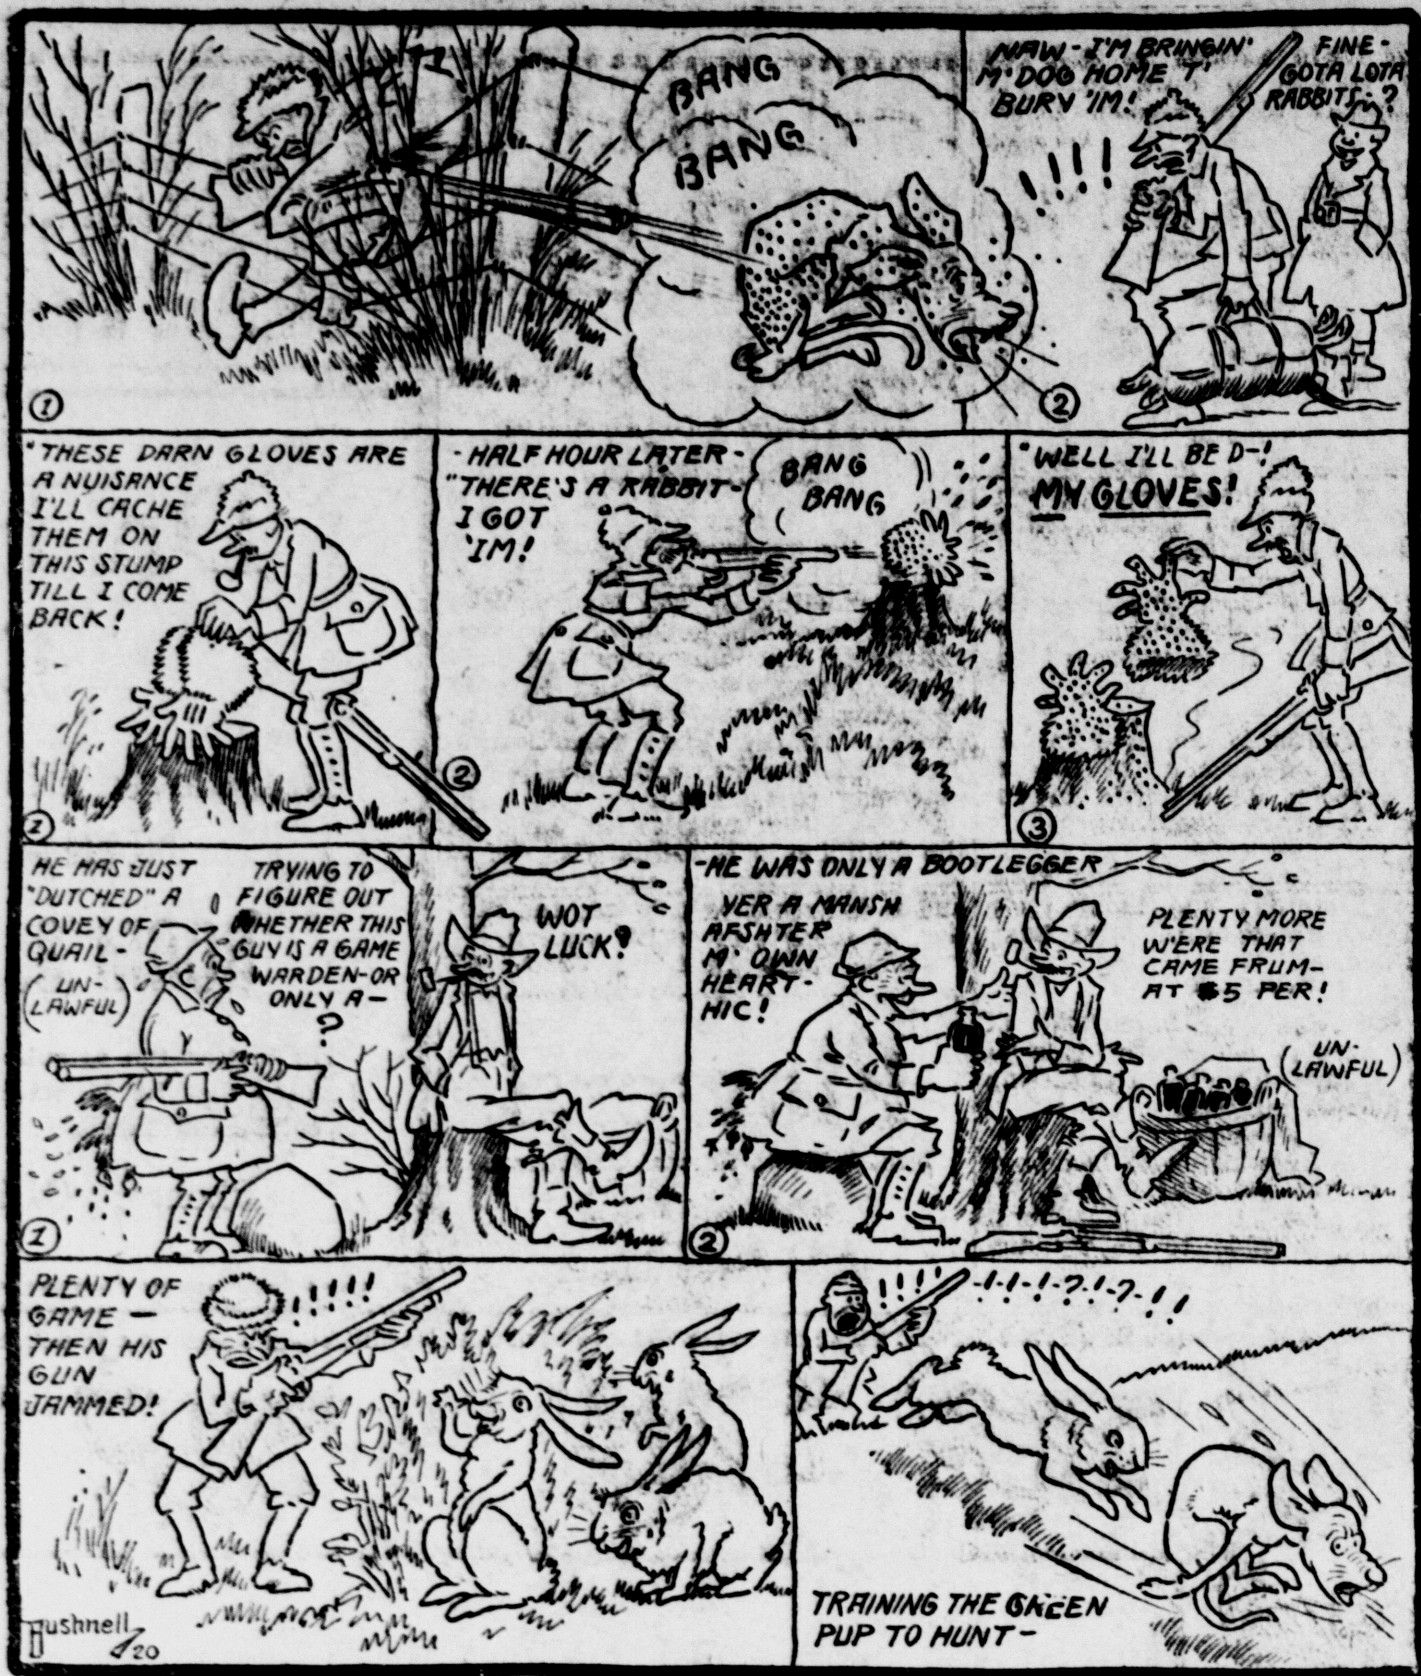

"While the farmers in Dallas county," he said, "received something like $2,000,000 less in 1920 for their crops than they did in 1919, the twenty-seven country banks in various parts of the county report that they are well able to care for the farmers of their trade territory this year. This has resulted largely, I think, from the fact that nearly every farmer in the county has more land, chickens and at least one or two milch cows which he has raised on his own farm. This naturally reduces his grocery bill and enables him to distribute his work more evenly throughout each month of the year. It also reduces the amount of money which he is sometimes compelled to borrow at the bank.

Diversifying Now.

"In the last three or four years the Dallas county farmers have gradually worked away from cotton to raising diversified crops. The cotton acreage has been reduced from three-fourths of the 356,000 acres of land in cultivation in the county to almost one-fourth of this amount. It seems that the 1921 crop will be in about this proportion.

"This reduction has been brought about, not through agitation for the reduction of cotton acreage, but through the introduction of crops which have proved more profitable than cotton. These crops are corn, oats, sorghum, peas, peanuts, and other feed crops. They are fed to registered high class livestock, such as dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry."

Mr. Moore pointed out that many farmers are undertaking a new phase of activity in connection with their work. "While heretofore, many of them have thought only in terms of production, they are turning a certain per cent of their time to the question of marketing their products. The farmers of Dallas county should be especially active along this line. Since they are located near one of the best markets in the United States there is no reason why any Dallas county farmer should hesitate to use every minute of his time in producing something in the form of food or feed. "He has a market practically at his door, and farm labor is now more plentiful than it has been at any time in the last few years. "No farmer should be deceived into believing that he can grow cotton at a better profit than the feed crops. Since the farmers did well last fall in getting a large wheat acreage back to normal and since the weather is ideal for planting oats, the drills should be kept busy and every acre that can be taken care of should be planted. "It has been suggested that the farmers should let some of their land lie fallow during 1921, but on the contrary they should plant every acre they can take care of with a minimum of expense in some kind of food or feed crops. These crops should be stored on the farms for some future day, as it is only a question of time till every ounce of food and feed will have a fair market price, since part of the world today is hungry and naked. It is true that the pendulum never swings so far in one direction but that it comes back and the momentum carries it equally as far in the other direction. "Sit Steady in the Boat." "I would advise every farmer in Dallas county to sit steady in the boat. Plant a good garden, look after the chickens well and see that the milch cows have plenty of feed and are milked regularly; look after the brood sow, see that she has green pasture with plenty of succulent feed, and when she farrows in February or early in March, don't be too busy to look after the pigs. "Whenever a trip to town is made always carry some butter, eggs, a can of lard or a side of bacon and always sell more than is bought in the city to be taken back to the farm. When selling, don't fail to price the goods the same as those which are being bought. If these suggestions are followed, it looks now as if the farmer has some bright years before him and will no longer turn his face to the city when a little bad luck falls." ## HOW SOON MAY WE EXPECT MODERN BARE KNEES TO PREVENT SUCH VACCINATION?

Photograph shows Chicago young woman being vaccinated.

With many cases of smallpox in South Chicago and forty homes quarantined in Oak Park, doctors of Chicago are facing a rush of applicants for vaccination. Vaccination on the arm has long been taboo among pretty girls who do not like to have the disfiguring mark show when they wear party frocks. They prefer to be vaccinated at the photograph. The question is, with the modern short skirts and prevalence of bare knees, will not this vaccination mark also be a disfigurement?

1,514 MARRIAGES; 170 DIVORCES IN GARFIELD COUNTY

(By the Associated Press.)

ENID, Jan. 12.—Compared to 1,514 applications for marriage licenses during 1920, the probate judge of Garfield county, in announcing 170 applications for divorce, claims to have one of the lowest divorce records in the state for 1920. Out of the 170 applications, the judge declares, "after talking it over with the judge," 15 of the divorce applications were withdrawn.

There were but two of the 1,514 marriage licenses issued that were not filled in and returned, the judge said.

MINERS TO BUILD THEIR OWN HOME

(By the Associated Press.)

MUSKOGEE, Jan. 14.—"Whenever district headquarters of the United Mine Workers of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas is to be located, it will be installed in a new building, which will be erected for that purpose," E. F. Ross, secretary-treasurer of the district miners, announced in discussing the probable purchase of the First Christian church here as a location for the headquarters.

"Regardless of the outcome of the contest to decide the location of the headquarters, the proposal to purchase the church building, offered at $40,000, has been so far 'snowed under' that there is no possibility of belated returns changing the result," the secretary treasurer said.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES LOWER IN PITTSBURGH COUNTY

(By the Associated Press.)

MUNICH, Bavaria, Jan. 14.—A reduction of from 40 to 60 per cent in automobile insurance rates went into effect in Pittsburgh county January 1, because of the low record in the number of automobile thefts and fires in the county during 1920, it has been announced.

Contrary to an increase in several other counties of the state in which large cities are situated, the table of rates in Pittsburgh county shows a decrease. Insurance agents declared that in a large way the rates on automobile theft insurance are gauged on the number of motor cars stolen. Pittsburgh county had no special assessments levied against it the past year to offset increased taxation.

FARMERS SAVE THOUSANDS BY CO-OPERATION

Reports of County Agent Show Organization Work Is Increasing.

STILLWATER, Jan. 8.—(Special) —Co-operative buying and selling, through farm organizations saved farmers of Oklahoma $585,459 in 1920, according to reports of county agents, which are the basis of the report of the extension division of the Oklahoma A. & M. college, just issued.

During the year 2,663 car loads of farm products were sold by these organizations, and 941 cars of supplies were purchased. On wheat, corn, mixed feed, cottonseed, coal and binder twine, a saving of $415,282 was realized.

The work of the extension division of the college was carried on during the past year under fifteen different heads as follows: Administration, printing and publications, county agents, boys' club work, home demonstration and girls' club work, rural sanitation, extension work for negro men and boys, extension work for negro women and girls, farm engineering, hog cholera control, horticulture, cotton, classing and marketing and road control work.

A large part of the county agents' time during the past year was spent in organization work and co-operating with organizations in their several lines of work. Fifty-five of the seventy-one Oklahoma county agents report having a central county organization supporting the county agent work. In some counties this organization was the farmers council, farm bureau; in others the grange, breeders associations, or improvements league. This report shows that there are 579 farm organizations in the state, with a membership of 23,760 in the various counties.

Livestock Improved. One of the outstanding features of this report is the great increase of pure-bred livestock on the farms of the state. Through the influence of the county agents thirty-nine purebred stallions, forty-six jacks, and 233 brood mares were purchased. In dairy work 194 pure-bred dairy bulls and 1,074 pure-bred cows or heifers were brought into the counties. Through this same influence 537 grade dairy cows were brought in and 552 cows were tested to determine the profitable milkers.

In beef breeds the agents influenced the importing of 366 pure-bred bulls and 1,234 cows and heifers, in addition to this there were 809 pure-bred boars and 2,854 pure-bred sows brought into the state.

In animal disease work the agents were very active, being called on for help whenever any disease appeared. Forty-seven of the county agents now own their own instruments for treating various contagious diseases. As a rule the agents teach farmers to vaccinate their own stock when disease breaks out or he puts the farmer in touch with the regular veterinarian. The agents report a total of 183,293 cattle being treated for black-leg, anthrax, ticks and other diseases. Also 91,783 hogs treated for cholera, lice and other troubles.

Many Improvements. The use of commercial fertilizers especially in the eastern part of the state has greatly increased in the past year. This is particularly true with regard to using commercial fertilizer for small grain. The agents advised 1,951 farmers regarding the proper use of these fertilizers. Demonstrations with a total of 3,558 acres resulting in a profit from increased yields of $52,340.

The agents did effective work in bringing about many different kinds of improvements affecting the farms, farm homes and the rural communities. The most important of these is the installation of 136 home water systems, 576 lighting systems, 10,141 homes screened against flies and mosquitoes, 2,333 farmers were furnished with plans for systematic crop rotation.

In the discharge of their duties the agents made 67,959 visits to demonstrators, co-operators, business men and club members. They traveled a total of 336,959 miles. There were 4,063 farmers meetings held under the auspices of the agents. They addressed 6,156 meetings of all kinds with a total attendance of 244,407.

Under New Plan City and County Will Co-operate

Secretary Walker announces that it is the purpose of the Ada Chamber of Commerce to rent the ground floor of a building on Main street, and establish therein a permanent headquarters for that organization. The secretary explained that the front of the room would be fitted up as an office for the secretary, and that the county farm agent, and the county farm demonstrator would be invited to share the office with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The remainder of the building will be arranged for an assembly hall, where the Chamber of Commerce and the farm organizations of the county may hold their meetings. The building will also be equipped to serve as a rest room, where farmers and other persons may be at ease and enjoy the modern conveniences provided, during their stay in the city.

By consolidating the office of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce with the offices of the county farm agent and the county farm demonstrator, it is pointed out that the three central boosting organizations of the county will be in a position to co-operate in their efforts to represent the best interests of the city of Ada and Pontotoc county.

It is thought that this plan will meet with the hearty support of the business men of Ada and the farmers of the county who are interested in the permanent betterment of conditions generally. Several of the members of the organization have approved the plan, and it is thought that it will be carried out with the approval of practically every member.

The lists of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce since the drive were mailed out to the members yesterday evening, by the secretary. The members of the organization are to choose fifteen men from the list to act as directors during the year 1921. The vote cards are to be returned to the secretary within three days, and the outgoing executive board of the old organization will count the votes and announce the names of the men who are to serve on the board during the coming year.

WANTS COLONY OF MENNONITES TO SETTLE IN STATE

(By the Associated Press.) M'ALESTER, Jan. 14.—A resolution to extend to a colony of Mennonites in Canada an invitation to come to Pittsburg county to settle was unanimously adopted by the chamber of commerce of McAlester at one of its recent meetings. A resolution of protest against the proposed $2,000,000 hospital for ex-service men disabled because of war activities, sponsored by the American Legion of Oklahoma, and endorsement of the proposed appropriation by the legislature of money for farmers' warehouses, were also adopted by the club.

Constipation is the starting point for many diseases that end fatally. Healthy regularity can be established through the use of Prickly Ash Bitters. It is a fine bowel tonic, is mildly stimulating and strengthens the stomach, liver and kidneys. Price $1.25 per bottle.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., Special Agents. Adv.

Lightweight Title May Change Hands Tonight

(By the Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, will defend his title in Madison Square Garden tonight in a 15-round bout to a decision with Richie Mitchell of Milwaukee. Deducting the fighters' share the receipts will be turned over to the American fund for devastated France.

Leonard's share will be $40,000 and Mitchell has been guaranteed $20,000.

The committee announced that every seat in the garden had been sold and that the total receipts will be $175,000.

A seat has been reserved for Gen. John J. Pershing.

It is all right to get back to normal, but it might be well to apply the brakes now to avoid skidding past.

WOULD CONVICT GARBER MAN ON MURDER CHARGE

(By the Associated Press.) ENID, Jan. 14.—Entrenching itself behind a mass of circumstantial evidence, the state was ready to rest its case in the preliminary hearing early today against A. M. Haines, of Garber, charged with the murder of Claud O'Connor, at Garber, January 5. Although a quantity of evidence has been introduced, no motive for the alleged crime, attributed to the defendant, has been brought out in the case.

CAVE MAN STUFF IF BOY PULLS A GIRL'S HAIR

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—When a school boy pulls the hair of a girl sitting in front of him it is a cave man sign that he loves the young lady.

This is the conclusion of the psychologist of the Philadelphia public schools, Miss Gladys G. Ide, director of special education.

"Manifestations of early love are found in the kindergarten, and are common enough through school life," said Miss Ide.

"The scuffling and wrestling, the twitching of hair braids, placing pins in advantageous positions and many of the other smaller annoyances which cause friction between teacher and pupil are direct evidences of favor from one person to another."

"The ways of a young man of 12 with a maid are many and varied, from the placing of himself in perilous positions in emulation of deeds of valor, to the writing notes and the drawing of pictures."

British Maids Looking To America for Hubbies

(By the Associated Press.) LONDON, Dec. 28.—"Jackless Jills" are emigrating in considerable numbers from England in the hope of finding suitable "Jill-less Jacks" for husbands in the United States, according to Nora March, bachelor of science. Her comments on England's "marriageable women who may never marry" before the national birth rate commission some time ago were widely discussed in the British press.

Government figures show there is a surplus of a million women in England whose hope of marrying depends on their migrating to some part of the earth where there is a more even distribution of the sexes. According to Miss March, they are doing it. She says she is receiving letters from America that are "significant of the loneliness of some men's lives."

"Women are enterprising today," she added. "Many are emigrating who a few years ago would have feared to take the great adventure."

BANDIT DIES WITH SECRET STILL SEALED

M'ALESTER, Jan. 14.—Fred Walker, the bandit wounded when captured by a posse near Calvin and whose companion was killed, died at the state penitentiary here. He steadily refused to talk of the affairs and died without making any statement.

Various state institutions depending upon an appropriation for their support have filed estimates of their needs for the next two fiscal years with the state board of control. The total appropriation aggregates $40,000,000.

HOW MUCH DISCOUNT?

Our goods last year, like everyone else, was bought at the highest prices: with their arrival came the cotton panic and we at once decided to mark our goods consistent with the prevailing conditions, fully 20% to 25% lower. Then came the lowering of wholesale prices and with it Discount Sales in retail stores, unloading high priced stocks. We followed suit and are now offering on top of our already reduced prices a flat 1/4 and 1/2 off—totaling together the reductions here amount to 45% to 55% compared to other stores.
